Setareh Fadaei

I hold a Master's degree in Psychology (Neurocognition and Language) from the University of Porto. Since 2021, I have developed a project on effective communication, offering courses and workshops on emotional intelligence and communication skills to help individuals overcome barriers in their interactions.

I teach at Universidade Sénior Eugénio de Andrade and Casa da Cultura de Paranhos, as well as private groups. Additionally, I run a course on the history, language, and culture of Iran, where we also organize Iranian cultural celebrations.

I have experience as a translator from English to Persian and have worked on various translation projects.

Beyond my professional work, I am involved in service projects as an animator for Junior Youth Programs, providing educational activities that help young people develop key capacities such as justice, self-expression, and collaboration.

M.R. Nikdel

Born in Tehran in 1982 into a family with hundreds of years of history in the city, he has always been deeply passionate about literature and history. A former member of the Iran Poet Society, he has published his own poetry and remains actively engaged in literary and cultural studies.

His academic journey began with a bachelor's degree in Persian Language and Literature (Linguistics) and a second degree in International Relations at Kiev National University (Taras Shevchenko). He continued his studies in Germany and later in Portugal, earning a master's and PhD in International Relations and Political Science from the University of Minho (Universidade do Minho).

As a researcher and translator, he collaborated with Dr. Vicente Ferreira to translate part of Hafiz's Divan into Portuguese. Fluent in eight languages, including Russian, Ukrainian, English, and Portuguese, Nikdel has also contributed numerous articles on literature, history, and international relations.

Since 2011, he has served as president of the Luso-Persian Association for Friendship and Development (ALPAD – Associação Luso-Persa para a Amizade e Desenvolvimento), promoting cultural and academic exchange between Lusophone and Persian-speaking communities.
